Once individuals and their issues/needs are identified, they can then be referred to the appropriate public sector/private sector agency for assistance. Outreach seeks to accomplish this by participating in on post/off post Family community events, on post organizational day functions, providing Family day briefings to Soldiers and Family members, setting up information tables during basic training graduations, conducting information briefings for permanent party, AIT students, and FRGs, and by manning information tables at various locations in communities around Fort Leonard Wood.

Fireworks / Sparklers Safety: Using fireworks on our nation's birthday is as American as apple pie, backyard barbecues and parades on Main Street. And it is equally safe if a few common sense rules are followed. Accidents occur annually with serious injuries and deaths due to homemade fireworks.

- Protect yourself from injuries, always read the caution labels and directions before handling fireworks and sparklers. Never alter or combine non compatible items.
- Wear required safety gear while using fireworks .
- Always use fireworks / sparklers outdoors within an open areas away from dry vegetation and keep a water hose or bucket handy for fires.
- Ensure fireworks and sparklers are stored in a cool, dry area.
- Alcohol and fireworks do not mix.
- Never relight a" dud" firework. Sparkler wire and sticks remain hot long after the flame has gone; wait 20 mins and soak them in a bucket of water.
- Soak spent fireworks and sparklers with water before placing them in an outdoor garbage can.
- Never hold or light more than one sparklers at a time.
- Storage, transportation, possession, or use of fireworks of any description on the installation is "prohibited". Public pyrotechnic displays must be conducted by an experienced and state licensed private contractor

Heat Injury Prevention: Exposure to extreme heat conditions is the reality during the humid summer season . Many heat injuries are preventable, and none need be fatal. Early recognition and treatment with symptoms of heat injuries are the keys to saving lives.

- Avoid heat stress conditions by scheduling activities during cooler temperatures in the morning vise hottest part of the day.
- Always 2-3 days to acclimatized and allow adequate time to adjust to the heat.

- Drinking water at lease one quart per hour ,is the best single preventative to heat injury. You can be dehydrated and showing signs of heat stress long before you feel thirsty. Avoid energy or high caffeine, sugar drinks–these actually cause you to lose more body fluid.
- Dress for conditions wear hats, light colored loose fitting clothing to cover your head, arms, legs, torso to protect yourself from the sun; use sun screen.
