St. Robert, Waynesville civic leaders get inside view of Fort Leonard Wood's hospital

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo. – St. Robert and Waynesville civic leaders visited Fort Leonard Wood July 23 and got a first-hand look at the installation's hospital.

St. Robert Mayor George Sanders, St. Robert City Administrator Anita Ivey and Waynesville Mayor Pro Tem Mike France joined about 20 other community leaders from the surrounding area at the Fort Leonard Wood Community Leaders Luncheon, where the General Leonard Wood Army Community Hospital was the primary focus.

Col. Peter Nielsen, GLWACH commander, provided an overview of the hospital, where he gave a glimpse of the unique services it offers not only to its supported population of about 35,000 but to the surrounding community.

“As the only hospital in Pulaski County with an ER (emergency room), an OR (operating room), ICU (intensive-care unit) and in-patient capability, we are very busy with EMS calls to this facility,” Nielsen said. GLWACH can “admit patients or stabilize them for as much time as necessary and then find the most appropriate location once they're stable.”

“This hospital has been state, nationally and internationally recognized for its safety and quality programs over the past several years and for initial initiatives that have started here that have spread outside of this organization,” he added.

After the update, community leaders received a tour of the facility to include its pharmacy, behavioral health and physical therapy departments.

According to Ivey, the tour offered valuable information to community leaders.

“Having the tour of the Army facility, the hospital, if you’re not familiar with it, it lets you know what’s available on post for the Soldiers and the retired community,” Ivey said.

Sanders agreed and said it is important to continue forums like Fort Leonard Wood’s Community Leaders Luncheon.

“I think it’s good that the community comes together as one,” he said. These forums are a “good way of expressing ourselves.”

About Fort Leonard Wood

Fort Leonard Wood is a thriving and prosperous installation that has evolved from a small basic training post 70 years ago to a premier Army Center of Excellence that trains more than 80,000 military and civilians each year.

Home to the Maneuver Support Center of Excellence, Fort Leonard Wood now trains and educates service members and develops doctrine and capabilities for the Training and Doctrine Command’s U.S. Army Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear School, U.S. Army Engineer School, and U.S. Army Military Police School, three gender integrated Initial Military Training brigades, one of only five reception stations in the Army, and the Army’s largest Noncommissioned Officers Academy.

Over the past several years, Fort Leonard Wood has received numerous additional responsibilities to include supporting the 4th Maneuver Enhancement Brigade, a large Forces Command unit that is responsible for all deployable capabilities at Fort Leonard Wood. A colonel-commanded Marine Corps Detachment and an Air Force Detachment, which are both the largest on any Army installation, are located on Fort Leonard Wood; a large Navy Seabee Detachment and elements of the Coast Guard train here as well.
